The cast of "Heidi" joined the beer Mile Crawl last weekend. A group shot of party of more than 5. As far as we can tell no one was injured by festivities. Any stories of bad behavior can only be disclosed at upcoming Bourbon crawl which promises to be even more epic. Stay tuned, stay thirsty.

PUMPKIN PAINTING
in the park

Our club is partnering with Beverly Main Streets to let kids get their inner artist on and decorate Pumpkins on the common. Right now were looking at Oct 23 from 1-4. 100 pumpkins, 1 red truck, 1 bail of hay and lots of paint for artists of all ages. If you can help it would be great. BTW if you have unused paint that hasn't dried up talk to moiph and maybe we can use it. Has to be kid friendly so they don't get too messy.

Speaker: Richard Clark of Soldiers, Songs and Voices. Richard is a travelling ambassador for vets of all services to heal through music. Their catch phrase is "Music for the mind". Started in 2011 in San Antonio it currently has 14 chapters including newest one in Gloucester. Their website is www.soldierssongsandvoices.com

The organization travels around to various Vet hospital or homes and invite vets to pick up a guitar and play, or write or compose songs based on their experiences in battle or war. made clear he doesn't teach but instead mentors vets to share their feelings and hurt through music which in turn helps them heal mind and body. Most of the music is happy but some deal with deep held feelings.

An example was given about a vet who had 3 tours wrote songs with candy names in the lyrics. No one expects to be famous but its their journey and very personal to them.
He did mention various musician such as Glen Campbell, Jimi Hendrix who made the most of their quirks in instrument playing, PLUS from throwback machine he mentioned 8 Tracks, cassette, reel to reel. WHOA blew my mind.

A very powerful message for those who gave more than their share of defending our country.

Richard was presented with Jack Good orange as our club hero.

The Swierczynski Swizzle Schtick

Hey, it's October and we need to celebrate Red Sox baseball. Back in spring the pundits and jury said Red Sox would be lucky to get out of AL East cellar this year. Well nothing says a playoff birth more than good defense and speaking softly carrying a big bat (kudos Teddy Roosevelt). The locals not just feasting on competition but washing them down the drain with this weeks swizzle, we call "Cinderella Devers Sale Mickey". First take a tall glass, add 1oz of Yankee choke bitters, muddle mint leaves and add Tampa Bay over confident vodka. Add a dash of Fenway magic, shake vigorously until froth forms at top. Pour over ice. If available take a splinter from the edge of Al Temkin seats and stir to keep cold, sit back and enjoy the splendor. Can be enjoyed with a Fenway frank or sausage and pepper sandwich. A refreshing cocktail to savor as favored teams some with larger payrolls, some with smaller are somewhere hitting 5 iron shot into woods and tree. You may ask, "wait where's the law tie in?", well there really isn't but you've read this much so far so keep going. Next up are the Astros who if Red Sox beat we'll have a drink made in a trash can used for stealing signs a few years back. Somewhere out there Pumpsie Green is smiling.
